TRANSPLANT METHODS

FUE HAIR TRANSPLANT METHOD

The FUE (Follicular Unit Extraction) hair transplant method is a minimally invasive technique that involves the individual extraction and transplantation of hair follicles, providing natural results with no visible scars.

SAPPHIRE FUE METHOD

The procedure is the same as with the regular FUE method, but it is performed using a special instrument made of the precious gemstone sapphire. This instrument allows for exceptional precision.

DIRECT HAIR IMPLANTATION METHOD

The DHI (Direct Hair Implantation) hair transplant method is an advanced technique in which hair follicles are implanted directly without the need for incisions or channel openings, reducing the invasiveness of the procedure and the recovery time.

How Zenaid Regained His Hair

For years, a handsome young man from Bosnia and Herzegovina, living in Austria, battled hair loss. The story he shared on his Instagram profile is one of the most sincere and emotional stories we've read in our long history of operation. What is truly remarkable is the fascinating transformation that occurred after the hair transplant procedure.

Zenaid described his experience on his Instagram profile: "After years of hair loss problems, I decided to seek help from experts. After thorough research, I chose VatanMed clinic because of its reputation and experience in the field of hair transplantation. When the day of the transplant arrived, the team was exceptional.

They explained every step of the procedure in detail, and I felt safe and protected in their hands."

From the beginning, the entire team impressed me with their professionalism and dedication. They were incredibly attentive and patient in explaining the procedure and addressing my questions and concerns. I felt comfortable and secure in their hands, wrote our client in his post, which received a lot of reactions.

The young man further described the transplant process itself and his experience at our clinic. "When the day of the transplant arrived, the team was exceptional. They explained every step of the procedure in detail, and I felt safe and protected in their hands. Now, several months after the transplant, I am extremely satisfied with the results. My hair looks natural and much denser than before."

Frequently Asked Questions

Q&A

Q

Is hair transplant painful?

A

In most cases, the procedure is performed under local anesthesia, short-term intravenous sedation, or a combination of both. VatanMed clinic uses a well-known Turkish technique called Dermojet: Painless anesthesia as the first step before the injection of anesthesia, ensuring a comfortable and painless experience for the client during the procedure. The procedure itself is not painful. After the intervention, some mild discomfort may occur, and pain relief tablets may be prescribed preventively.

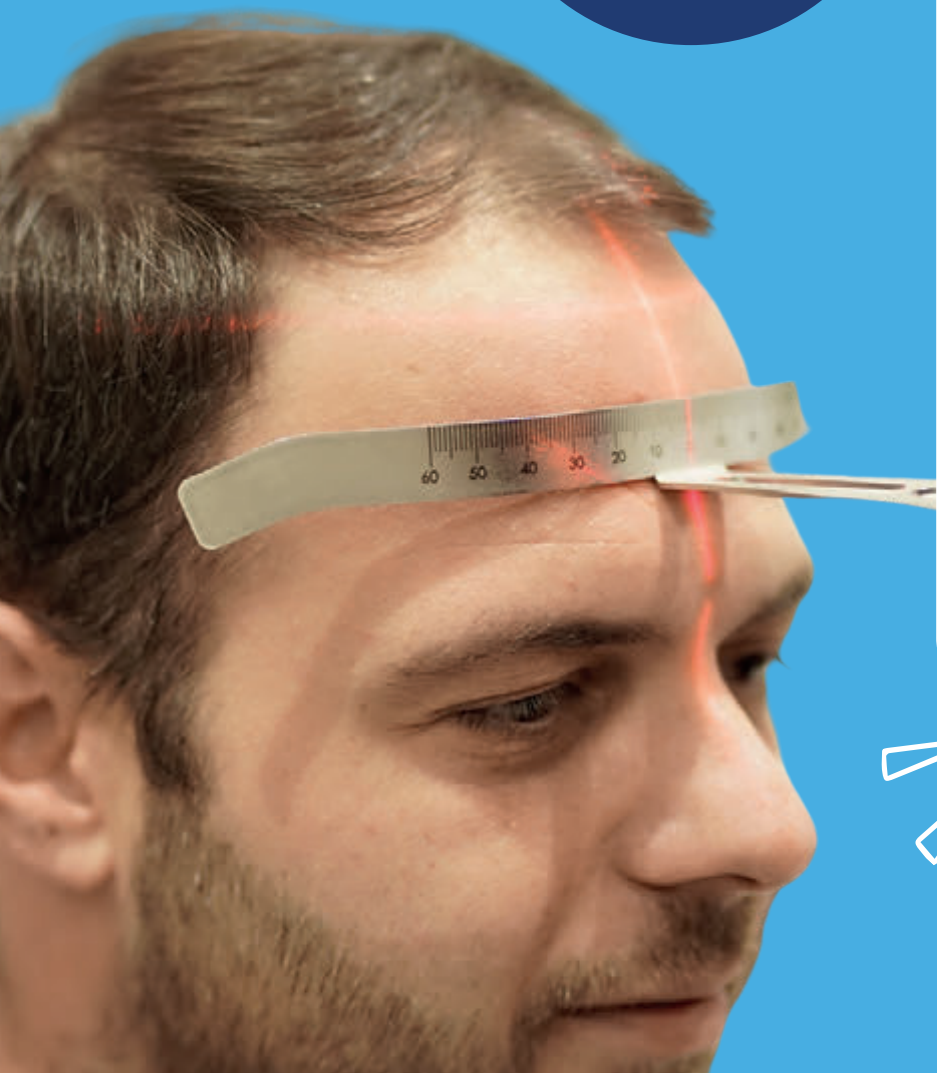

Q

How long does the hair transplant procedure take?

The hair transplant procedure is completed in a single day, although the exact duration depends on the number of grafts transplanted. On average, the procedure takes about 7 hours. During this time, the procedure is performed in two stages, with a break in the middle for rest and meals. The first stage involves the extraction of grafts from the donor area, while the second stage involves graft implantation. Taking sick leave or vacation for a hair transplant is not necessary.

At VatanMed, we strive to ensure that the hair transplant process is as comfortable and efficient as possible, providing a painless experience and allowing you to resume your daily activities without major interruptions.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q

Are there any side effects of hair transplant?

A

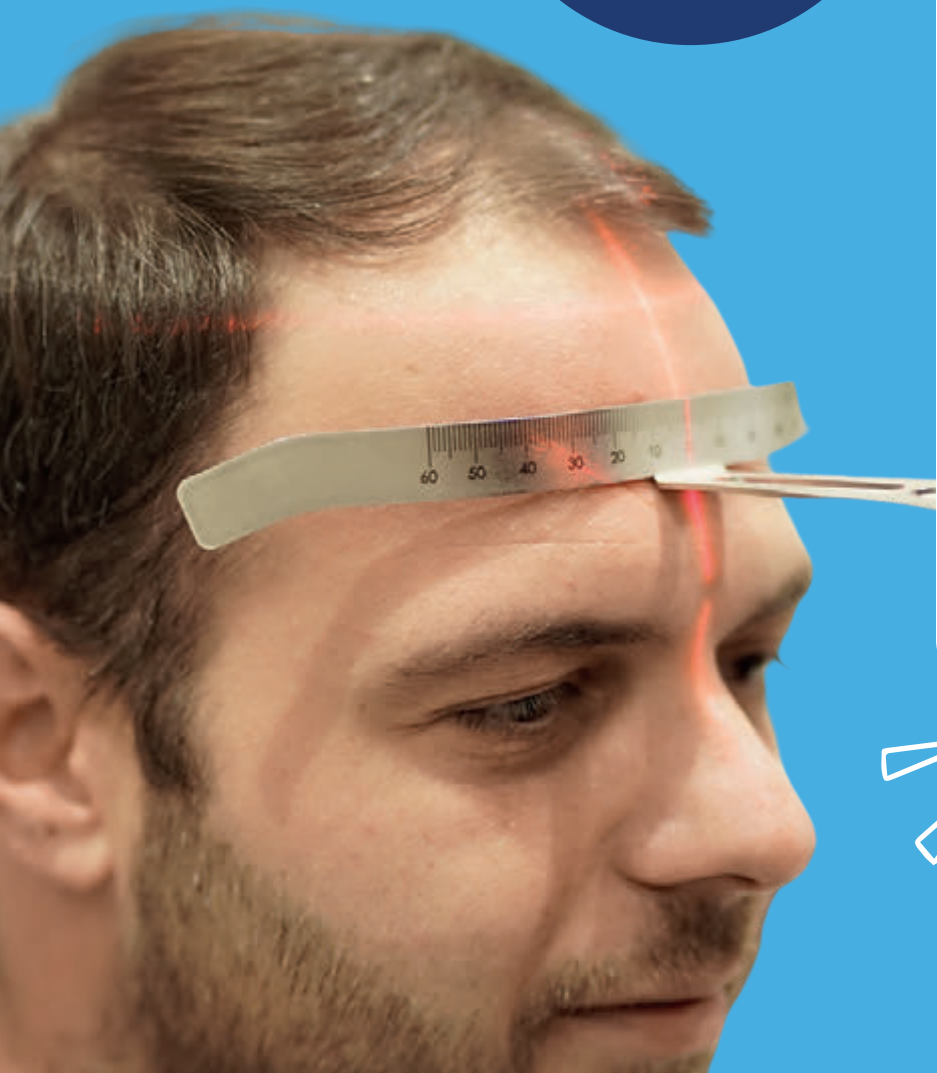

Operating rooms are regularly disinfected, and each patient receives a new set of instruments at the beginning of the procedure, ensuring the complete avoidance of infection risks. Our doctor will prescribe antibiotics preventively. Some patients may experience slight redness in the scalp area due to skin irritation, which disappears within a few days. Local anesthesia (very rarely) can cause slight swelling in the forehead, which usually resolves one or two days after the procedure. To prevent swelling, each patient is provided with a compression bandage and medication.

Q

Am I a good candidate for a hair transplant?

A

Whether you are a suitable candidate for a hair transplant depends on the degree of hair loss and the number of donor follicular units at the back of your head. During the examination, we will first assess the quality of your donor area. It is essential to determine whether you have a sufficient number of follicles that can be extracted from the donor region for a successful hair transplant. During the medical examination, we will evaluate all these factors and provide you with a detailed assessment of your suitability for hair transplant and the potential to achieve optimal results.
